About the Summer Meeting

The AIP Summer Meeting is a bi-annual event of the Australian Institute of Physics (AIP), held since 2017 in major cities like Sydney, Melbourne, Brisbane, and Canberra. For the first time, it will be hosted in a regional location at the University of Wollongong, NSW. This meeting alternates with the AIP Congress and offers a more informal setting for the physics research community to present their findings and future plans. With over 450 delegates expected, primarily early to mid-career researchers, it presents a prime opportunity for sponsors to connect with key users and specifiers of research equipment, services, and supplies.

The Australian Institute of Physics, a non-profit organization, has been promoting the role of physics in research, education, industry, and the community since its formation in 1963. It evolved from the Australian Branch of the Institute of Physics in the UK (IOP) and continues to serve the needs and interests of professional physicists and physics enthusiasts.

About Our Venue

The conference will be held in the Hope Theatre and the McKinnon Building at the University of Wollongong's main campus. Located in the coastal city of Wollongong, approximately 80 kilometers south of Sydney, the university is set in lush native Australian bushland and is one of the most picturesque campuses in Australia. Nearby is UOW's Innovation Campus, a research and technology precinct housing innovative organizations and leading research institutes. The spacious auditorium with advanced acoustic and display systems will host live presentations, while the open-space architecture will facilitate networking and collaboration. Exhibitors will benefit from the open area within the food and beverage section.

Acknowledgement of Country

The Summer Meeting will take place on the traditional lands of the Dhawaral, Yuin, and Wadi Wadi peoples. We pay our respects to Elders past and present and celebrate the diversity of First Nations peoples and their ongoing cultures and connections to the lands and waters of Australia.
